Additional Notes:

Studentēs,

Hīc summus. The final packet of this interesting school year.

We all came to school in August not even questioning what life would look like at the end of the school year because we knew what would happen based on our past experiences: the Family Barn Dance, a time of STAAR testing, summer inching closer and closer, end of the year celebrations, yearbook signing. COVID-19, however, threw that security of not having to question the future out the door. But just as our daily lives were disrupted by this virus, so too were the lives of Pompeiians disrupted by the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius. Pandemics, catastrophes, tragedies happened back then as they do now. Life, nevertheless, continues on. As we know now and as we will read in this chapter's reading on the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius, there is no boldness and courage without fear. Thank you for your patience and perseverance. Come translate with us in Guided Instruction!

Yours,

Mr. Hunt, Mr. Kile, Miss Villanueva
